

Latin American Symposium 2010

Green and Healthy Cleaning

Where industry leaders come together to link science and environmental responsibility for a cleaner world.

JUNE 9-11, 2010 CANCUN, MEXICO

The first-ever cleaning industry symposium.

This symposium brings together leaders in the Latin American market to discuss how to improve the ways in which we protect occupant health. A series of executive-level seminars will explore the changing landscape of cleaning as it converts into a profession backed by scientific research with a friendly focus with the environment— while increasing your resources.

YOU WILL BE ABLE TO:

- Know the advances in research of the ISSA-CIRI to define "Clean"

- Meet scientists, researchers, academics and experts to discuss the latest trends in cleaning for health

- Learn of developments in environmentally preferable products, processes and certification

- Hear case studies from green cleaning operations

- Network with the top cleaning companies and distributors from throughout Latin America.

You can host a private seminar or meeting for your association members or business network in conjunction with the Symposium. To find out how to secure a complimentary meeting room space alongside this amazing new event, contact Anabel Montoya, en anabel@issa.com.

Plus, receive complimentary access to the ISSA/INTERCLEAN Latin America exhibition, where you will find the latest products and technology in the cleaning industry.
